GAINESVILLE, FLORIDA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1909

TEN CENTS A WEEK

FLORIDA AND STETSON PLAYED A TIE GAME

Early One Thousand People Witnessed Game.
Each Team Scored Touch-Down.

Onto one thousand enthusiastic fans of football witnessed the exciting, hard-fought game between the University of Florida eleven and Stetson University team. The contest resulted in a tie score, 5-5.

From the first minute of play till the last half both teams fought every inch of ground, urged on by their respective supporters from the side lines. The University colors were in evidence everywhere, and the Stetson followers were decorated with ribbons, pennants and banners of green and white.

The game was not marked with any runs or sensational plays, as both teams were evenly matched, and it was a stubbornly-fought, grueling contest.

Florida managed to make a touch-down in the first half, and were repeatedly penalized, losing one touch-down. A bad fumble of a kicked ball ten minutes before time was called in the last half enabled Stetson to gain enough ground to be seriously close to the goal line. In the second half the sturdy green and white men forged across the line for the first score, tying the game. However, to kick goal, and a few scrimmages time was called.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB.

Entertained President State Federation Woman's Clubs.

T. M. Shackelford, president of the State Federation Woman's Clubs, was an honored guest of the Twentieth Century Club Monday afternoon. The handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Colclough was the scene of the many delightful business and social meetings of the club.

The executive board would recognize and appreciate these generous and courteous from the club's members.

Reports of officers and chairmen of the various societies were suspended for this occasion, only the reading of minutes and the purchase of 10,000 Christmas cards in aid of the State fight against tuberculosis, the reading of two communications and the reception of Mr. Murphree and Mrs. Thackston, members of the club, a pleasing feature of the business session. The club is assured of an educational up-lift with their help and presence.

A literary program followed, commencing with delightful music, "With the Sculptors." To the call, responses were made in pictures and sculpture. Six biographical papers of "Biographical Papers" were read, proving an interest in the program formulated by the club directors.

The club is especially indebted to Miss Vidale and Miss Vidal for the with both teams in the center of the field fighting for all they were worth.

It was truly one of the prettiest games ever played on the local grid-iron, and Gainesville turned out well to encourage the sturdy University boys. Stetson had a large crowd of enthusiastic supporters and they were in evidence throughout the game with deafening Stetson yells.

The visitors had a very good team, being quick, good runners, and in the game every minute.

In speaking of the game before the train left Clyde Pounds, one of the best players on the Stetson team, said that Florida worked the forward pass to perfection and it was the best he ever saw. This is evidence of Mr. Pile's good management of the team, and, like last year, he has made the U. of F. eleven one to be feared by the other colleges of the State.

Owing to lack of time we are not able to give a full detail of the game this morning.

The two hundred or more loyal and enthusiastic supporters of Stetson left on the special train last night at 7 o'clock, feeling that they had a good time in Gainesville, and had nothing but praise for the University City and its people.

beautiful music, which added a charm and pleasure.

The event of the afternoon was the inspiring address of Mrs. Shackelford. The president presented Mrs. Shackelford, expressing the pleasure and honor her presence lent to the Twentieth Century Club and the value of her services in the general uplift of the plans and purposes of the State Federation, to which Mrs. A. L. Foster responded in well-chosen words of welcome in behalf of the club.

Mrs. Shackelford, very graciously accepted these addresses of welcome for herself and the State Federation, giving a short talk explanatory of the meaning of "The Federation of Woman's Clubs." She emphasized the great results of their efforts in the cause of humanity, the training of children in the kindergarten, the almost matchless influence and aid of 800,000 club women engaged with the States in the fight against tuberculosis.

Following Mrs. Shackelford's much appreciated address, the social function was beautifully carried out. The hour passed all too quickly. The time had come when the ladies must bid adieu to our lovely guest and charming hostess, to meet Monday, December 13th, Mrs. E. E. Cannon hostess.

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF FLORIDA

The Miami Baptist Association is holding its annual meeting in the First Baptist church of that city.

The chief of police has announced that bolita and other gambling games, illicit sale of liquors, open saloons on Sunday and other practices are to be stopped at Key West.

A large party of homeseekers have recently arrived in Bartow from Tennessee. These parties have rented houses and it is understood will engage in the trucking business.

The sale of real estate in Sanford during the past week showed a considerable gain over the preceding one. A large number of celery lands have changed hands at attractive prices.

The first of the colonists who will purchase and settle the land owned by the Florida Association, and located eight miles north of St. Petersburg, arrived in that city last Sunday.

The Associate Reform Presbyterian Synod convened in Bartow last week, and there were two hundred delegates in attendance at the meeting from all over the Southern States. The visitors were greatly pleased with Bartow.

Demsey Lee Cox, a member of the Eightieth Company, Coast Artillery, was found dead one day last week in his room at the Cripe House in Key West. He had taken poison and a note was found asking that his company be notified of his death.

The whiskey distillery which is being put up at Perry by Captain W. H. Hartnett, of Merriwell county, Georgia, is now about ready for operation, only waiting the Government officers, who will examine every feature of the plant and determine the capacity.

The People's Bank, now nearing completion of their new brick block at Sanford, have decided to fill in the niche of thirty or more square feet in rear of their bank, squaring up the back line with the new large building. Besides being an advantage, this will be a great improvement.

On Saturday Andrew Hanley, traveling representative of the H. W. Johns Company, dealers in asbestos packing in Tampa, attempted to commit suicide at his room in the Hillsboro Hotel by taking strychnine. His attempt was frustrated by the presence in the hotel of Dr. J. S. Helms, who administered antidotes which relieved the man, and in three or four hours after the occurrence he was cheerfully talking with acquaintances.

ORANGE HEIGHTS NOTES.

ORANGE HEIGHTS, Nov. 25.—Our school teacher, Mr. A. Brantly, has not yet returned, so we suppose he is still unable to teach.

Ben Barnes of Dunnellon visited with his wife, who is boarding with Mrs. Hall, over Sunday.

Mrs. Jos. Adams visited Mrs. J. H. Patterson and family of North Gainesville from Saturday until Monday.

Ben Lumpkin came home on Tuesday of this week. Gainesville does not agree with Benjamin.

R. Lumpkin and daughter, Sara, visited Gainesville on last Friday.

Rev. T. L. Z. Barr was in our village calling on last Thursday.

Mrs. Henry Bryan and daughter, Pearl, of Eddy's mill, are visiting in our neighborhood.

Miss Theo Roundtree visited her sister, Mrs. John Kellum, of Hawthorn, who returned home with her on Tuesday evening.

ALACHUA TEACHERS' INSTITUTE IS IN SESSION

Interesting Addresses by Dr. Murphree and Prof. Thackston Last Night---Today's Program.

The first meeting of the Alachua County Teachers' Institute was called to order in the auditorium of the Gainesville Graded and High School at 8 o'clock Thursday night, with an invocation by Rev. Thos. P. Hay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, which was followed by an interesting address by Dr. John A. Thaxton, of the University.

There was a musical number, which was followed by one of the most interesting addresses along educational lines ever heard in this city, or anywhere in the State. This address was delivered by Dr. A. A. Murphree, president of the University, and those present were deeply impressed with his remarks.

Today's Program.

The following program is announced for today:

Friday, November 26, 9 a. m.

8:00 p. m.—Address by Dr. Hiram Byrd, of the State Board of Health.

A large number of the teachers of Alachua county are in attendance.

The people of St. Augustine made great preparations to welcome the autoists who arrived there in the endurance run.

HOWE'S GREAT LONDON SHOWS.

A Very Little Philosophy, But an Awful Lot of Truth.

"Show us the man with soul so dead that he does not feel the least bit of thrill when the circus comes to town, and we will show you a confirmed cynic."

"The circus is your true test as to whether your neighbor is 'human' or not. One who has become thoroughly disillusioned is not only a heavy weight upon himself, but wears his acquaintances as well, and it is a false sympathy which regrets his suicide. If a man claims that the circus bores him, it is because all the freshness is gone from his nature; and by the same token he is a bore himself. Except you become again as a little child you shall not enjoy the circus; and if you have the power to do that you are in such a spiritual condition that you need not worry about the hereafter. Of course, we don't mean to make the flat-footed statement that all who go to the circus will of necessity go to heaven, nor that all who are admitted to the latter place must have been circus-goers, for even some circus-goers are wanting in the proper child-like simplicity in other things, and may not be able to even creep under the tent of Paradise."

"But the main proposition holds true; it is a bad man and a bad neighbor, and, above all, a bad parent who can forget his own juvenile delight in the brave bespangled confusion of the Greatest Show on Earth. (Each circus is the Greatest Show on Earth.)"

Howe's Great London Shows deserve this application, however, every department being completely up to the minute.

The show date here is Monday, November 29th.

Park Dramatic Company.

The ever popular favorite organization, the C. W. Park Dramatic Company, will make their annual appearance here all next week. This company hardly needs any endorsements, for the people of this city know that they always have the best and cleanest show of its kind that has ever played here.

IN JUSTICE COURT.

Diamond Ice Co. Lose Out in Suit Brought by Wm. B. Lukens.

There was an interesting trial in the court of Justice J. A. Carlisle Wednesday morning, wherein Wm. B. Lukens was the complainant and the Diamond Ice Company the defendant. The case was termed as assumption, the plaintiff suing the defendant for $45 for a certain amount of shingles which said plaintiff claimed had never been paid for.

The case went to trial by jury, and was argued on both sides, Attorney Thos. W. Fielding appearing for the plaintiff, Attorney W. S. Broome for the defense.

After hearing the evidence in the case the same was submitted to the jury, and a verdict returned in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $45, with eight per cent interest from December 26, 1908.

The jury was composed of H. M. Chitty, foreman; W. T. Gore, E. C. McMahan, J. Dudley Williams, J. D. Adamson and P. O. Parker.

WILL BUILD NEW ROAD.

Contract Let for Construction of Hard Road to Jesse R. Emerson.

The progressive people of the Micanopy section, who, by their votes some time ago created a sub-road district in order to secure better highways, have been making good time ever since, with the result that several miles of hard road have been constructed.

It is now an assured fact that the road from Micanopy north, to connect with the Wacahoota road, will be constructed, as Jesse R. Emerson has been awarded the contract for constructing the same, being a stretch of a little more than two miles.

With the completion of this stretch, there will be a gap of a little bit over a mile to be paved, which would give a solid hard road between Micanopy and Gainesville. It is to be hoped that the county commissioners will decide to have this gap filled in.

Mr. Emerson expects to begin work Monday morning, and will push the contract in Micanopy district through without delay.

Three Negroes in Jail For Creating Trouble

Engaged with creating a general "shooting up" a festival hall in Gainesville a few nights ago, John Cooper, a trio of negroes, were arrested and are now in jail in this city. They have been brought to Gainesville by Deputy Sheriff John Parker.

val in progress, and proceeded to "get bad" at once, shooting out lights, using clubs, etc. In the melee the festival crowd was scattered to the four winds, but not until someone had put a load of small birdshot into Cooper's leg, from the effects of which he is still suffering.

The negroes will be arraigned before Judge Mason as soon as witnesses can be summoned.

MEETING OF METH- ODIST CONFERENCE

FOURTH QUARTERLY SESSION
HELD HERE WEDNESDAY.

Stewards Were Elected for Ensuing Term, and D. B. Hartsfield Selected
Sunday School Superintendent.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference of the First M. E. Church for the current year, 1909, was held at the church Wednesday afternoon, Rev. T. J. Nixon, presiding officer, in the chair, Ferdinand Bayer, secretary.

From the various reports the church, and all the societies of the church, were shown to be in a good condition. Among the business transacted was the election of a new board of trustees, consisting of J. B. Dell, P. H. Baker, T. J. McRae, W. L. Hill, W. B. Phifer, W. J. Denby, J. M. Flewellen, W. E. Baker, J. P. Fagan, and the following were elected stewards for the ensuing conference year: H. L. Phifer, J. M. Dell, Ferdinand Bayer, J. N. Newsom, W. M. Edwards, F. T. Douglass, W. R. McKinstry, L. T. Roux, J. E. Padgett, E. K. Fagan, W. R. Thomas, W. M. Pepper, T. W. Shands, B. D. Hartsfield, R. B. Peeler, W. D. Dickinson, J. A. Phifer.

J. N. Newsom was elected recording steward and Ferdinand Bayer district steward.

B. D. Hartsfield was elected Sunday school superintendent, and upon motion of J. M. Dell a vote of thanks was tendered H. L. Phifer, the retiring superintendent, for his faithful services, the school having prospered very much during his administration.

After general routine work the conference adjourned.

Funeral of Mr. Ramsey.

The funeral of Mr. Henry Ramsey, the death of whom occurred at his home in North Gainesville Wednesday, was held from the residence at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, Rev. F. R. Bridges of the First Methodist church conducting the ceremonies.

The funeral was attended by a large number of friends, many of whom brought floral offerings as a last tribute of high esteem for the deceased. The interment was in Evergreen cemetery, and many followed the remains to their last resting place.

The Alligator's Tongue.

On one occasion when traveling along the west coast of Africa with an old skipper who had known many missionaries, but "did not see the use of them," Bishop Taylor-Smith was obliged to endure a string of taunting questions, such as "What was the good of spouting at Exeter hall?" and "What did missionaries know, anyway?"

At last the bishop could stand it no longer. Turning to the skipper, he said: "I know you are an expert. Can you tell me the length of an alligator's tongue?"

"Certainly," was the reply, "but it depends on the length of the alligator."

"Very well, then; given an alligator fifteen feet long, what would be the length of its tongue?"

"Three feet," was the answer.

But the bishop, who had kept alligators and watched their ways, knew better. "It is evident that you are an authority on the west coast of Africa," he said, "but it is also evident that some people see more in ten minutes than others in twenty years. Let me tell you that an alligator has no tongue."

Declined the Job.

A writer of cheap fiction relates a trick played on him by a collaborator in the days when dime novels were longer than they are now, and the compensation made it worth while for two men to write one story between them. After his partner had finished the first chapter of their initial collaboration it was handed over with the following announcement:

"There, I've just thrown the hero over a thousand foot cliff and told the reader that nothing could prevent the lad from falling to death on the rocks below. It is up to you to save the boy."

The other writer said nothing, but sat down and wrote furiously for an hour. Then he quietly handed the manuscript back. A glance at the second chapter showed the funny man that his friend had completely ignored the events in the first part of the story, introduced a new set of characters and left the hero still hanging over the cliff, waiting to be rescued by his creator.—New York Sun.

Poetry Didn't Save Them.

A New York prisoner accused of drunkenness who pleaded his case in rhyme before a magistrate got a sentence of six months on "the island," for, as the judge remarked, his "jag" was bad enough, but his poetry was worse. Over in London a "plain drunk" put forth this:

I've been drinking wine that is drawn from the wood;
No bottle rubbish, but sparkling and good.

But it got in my head, so my friends all explain
That the wine has gone back to the wood once again.

The effusion and the celebration cost him 10 shillings.—New York Tribune.

College Sentiment.

Dr. Blank, about twenty years a professor in a certain college, was on the eve of a trip to Europe, to be absent two years. In pathetic and rather harrowing tones he made his farewell address to his class:

"Yes, I am about to part with you. This is more than distressing to me. Would that there was a window in my breast, my dear boys, that you might see the innermost recesses of my heart."

A stripling in the rear, seized with a happy thought, shouted:
"Professor, would a pane in the stomach do?"—Lippincott's.

Unusual Luck.

"So you've rented that haunted house which was on your hands so long?"

"Yes; rented it to an actor."

"Did he find out its reputation?"

"That's the very thing which decided him to take the house."

"Rather surprising?"

"He said it would be such a comfort for him to get inside of a house where the ghost walked every night."—Baltimore American.

THE CENTURY PLANT.

It Blooms, Says a Florist, Every Twenty-five to Forty Years.

"The regular century plant," said an expert in floriculture, "is not a cactus. It belongs to a family by itself. It has a large, broad leaf, sometimes two or three feet long and several inches thick where they branch from the center. There are two varieties, one the variegated and the other green. The only difference is that the variegated has a white stripe along the outer edge of the leaf. Both bloom every twenty-five to forty years. A stock perhaps eight or ten inches in diameter shoots up from the center to a height of fifteen or twenty feet, and around this stock cluster small blossoms. They are neither pretty nor fragrant. They were formerly supposed to bloom once in a hundred years."

"The nearest thing to a century plant is a night blooming cereus. It is a cactus and blooms once in about every twenty-five years or so. The flower is large, very beautiful and has a delightful odor. One plant may have several blossoms, but each flower lasts only one night."

"There is no such plant as a 'century cactus.' The cactuses that many have mistaken for 'century cactuses' will bloom in four or five years if kept under glass or about seven years if not in a greenhouse. Because they are so long in blooming, I suppose, they have been called 'century cactuses,' and the name has been handed down until it is considered the proper term for them. They bloom yearly after the first blossoms appear. They are just an ordinary cactus, but they have a pretty, fragrant flower."—Seattle Times.

A Hair Breadth Escape.

Do you know that every time you have a cough or cold and let it run on thinking it will just cure itself you are inviting pneumonia, consumption or some other pulmonary trouble? Don't risk it. Put your lungs back in perfect health and stop that cough with Ballard's Horehound Syrup. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

The Canny Scot.

In the differences that would sometimes arise between members of his tenantry the Duke of Argyll was often invited to arbitrate upon the matter in dispute, and he used to tell a characteristically Scottish story of one of the occasions. Two tenants having waited upon him and asked him to decide the question at issue, the duke put what he always regarded as a very necessary preliminary question, "Will you abide by my award?"

"Well, your grace," was the reply of one of the hard headed old disputants, "I'd like to ken first what it is."—London Chronicle.

A REMARKABLE WOMAN.

Mrs. Sarah K. Taylor, Head of Missionary Societies, Was Here.

Mrs. Sarah K. Taylor of Maine, the recognized head of the Woman's Missionary Societies of the Adventist church, delivered two lectures at the church Tuesday, afternoon and evening, which were listened to with great deal of interest by those present.

Mrs. Taylor has recently returned from an extended trip through the West and India, and in her talks she interestingly of these countries. It is to be regretted that, owing to the weather, many of those who might have been interested in her lectures were prevented from attending.

Mrs. Taylor is on a tour of Florida, and will lecture at all the principal cities and towns where an Adventist church exists. She is a woman of rare talent, and those who had the pleasure of hearing her were impressed and benefited.

A Jacksonville Wedding.

A wedding was solemnized in Jacksonville Wednesday night which will be of unusual interest to the young people of this city, the contracting parties being Thomas Blaw of Kentucky and Miss Julia, the accomplished daughter of Captain Thos. W. Lund, Jacksonville. The ceremony was performed in the First Episcopal church of that city.

Miss Lund is well-known and popular in this city, where she has visited on various occasions. She possesses a magnificent voice, and has favored people with her vocal talent upon several occasions.

Friends of the bride in this city extend congratulations, and wish the happy pair a long life of marital bliss.

An Exciting Runaway.

A runaway of a team belonging to the White House created considerable excitement about 7:30 last night, when driver, Will Stroble, was thrown from the carriage at the corner of Third and West Main streets. He was taken to the drug store of Dr. M. Johnson, where he was soon attended, as it was found there was only a scalp wound just above the temple.

OFF TO THE STATE CAMP.

State Agent Bridges Took Six Prisoners to Ocala Camp Wednesday.

State Transfer Agent Bridges of Ocala was in the city Wednesday, having come to convey several prisoners convicted at the recent term of the circuit court for various crimes, and sentenced to the State prison.

The prisoners were Jim Hunt and James Johnson, convicted of tying a mule on a railroad track, five years each; Jim Lundy, murder in the third degree, two years; Alberta McQueen, manslaughter, three years; Will Mitchell, grand larceny, one year; Wallace Felder, larceny of a horse, three years.

All prisoners were negroes.

The Oldest Joke.

It will be difficult to discover an older practical joke than that of the coppersmith and the maker of brazen images for the temple of Osiris, which is embodied in Egyptian inscriptions dating from the reign of Menes, founder of Memphis, who ruled over 7,000 years ago. According to ancient records, there dwelt between these two craftsmen a quiet man whose desire was for peace and who was sadly disturbed by the noisy occupations carried on by his busy neighbors. He therefore asked each of them to say for what sum they would change their dwellings. This they did. Each calculated the amount required, and he, being satisfied, paid it over to them.

"Now," he asked of the coppersmith, "where is your new dwelling?" "I have taken that of the maker of images," was the reply. "And you," queried the quiet man of the latter, "whither goest thou?" "To the house of the coppersmith!"

This is one of many tales told in all ages which are woven into myth and legend and differ only in local color.

He Needed the Clerk.

When Tim Campbell was in the Fifth congress he stole a clerk from Congressman Scott. Scott was a new member and was made chairman of a committee which gave him a clerkship. He knew nothing about the clerk. Campbell did. Through some means or another he had the clerkship transferred to his own committee. Six months later Scott learned of the trick. Meeting Campbell, he said: "That was a nice piece of petty larceny."

"Tut, tut, Mr. Scott," said Campbell; "my committee needed a clerk worse than yours." Then, with twinkling eyes, he continued, "You are a millionaire and can afford to hire half a dozen clerks, while I must go to the government for clerical assistance."

The ready reply amused Scott. The two men were always the best of friends thereafter.

Anxious Traveling.

A traveler in Russia noticed that the train he entered was all decorated with flags and banners; and at every station it passed stood a company of soldiers and a band playing the national anthem. The traveler asked a brakeman the reason of all this ceremony. The brakeman, lowering his voice, replied:

"I don't mind telling you, sir—but in the strictest confidence, be it understood—that a carriage in this train has been engaged for his majesty. But his majesty, as a matter of fact, won't set off till this evening. Thus the plot hatched against him may take effect on this train, you see, and our gracious sovereign will be saved."

The brakeman touched his cap and passed on, and the traveler, suddenly grown pale and nervous, stared from the window anxiously.

The First Patent on Matches.

Before 1833, when wooden matches with phosphorus were made in Vienna, people were dependent upon flint and steel to secure a light. The first patent for a phosphorus match in the United States was taken out in 1833 by A. D. Phillips of Springfield, Mass. For many years people refused to use them, but by 1845 the ill-smelling and clumsy old tinder boxes were generally discarded and are preserved, like snuff-boxes, as curiosities.

Out of His Line.

Is it not your opinion, Uncle William, that the thesis of Clement and Athanasius furnishes a much more tenable basis for a rational theory of creation than is afforded by that of Augustine?—Chicago Tribune.

Nature's Gift from the Sunny South

Cottolene Comes from Dixieland!

The source of lard is against it. Lard-cooked food may not cause indigestion and throw your stomach out of kilter, but it will be only a matter of luck if it doesn't.

The source of Cottolene is pleasing—the product is healthful. The oil is extracted from the cotton seed grown in the fields of the Sunny South. It is then refined and rendered odorless and neutral in taste. From Cottonfield to Kitchen—human hands never touch the oil from which Cottolene is made.

Cottolene is an absolutely pure product—of pure origin and ancestry, and will make palatable, digestible, healthful, wholesome food. It is the best frying and shortening medium made to-day. If the best is none too good for you, ask your grocer for Cottolene, and do not let any prejudice stand in the way. The only way to know Cottolene is to test it yourself.

Buying in His Note.

Colonel Bill was a pioneer legislator, merchant and banker of the vest pocket variety.

It was seldom that Colonel Bill got caught by a debtor, so unerring was his judgment of men, but his transaction with old man Blankerton was an exception to the rule. Blankerton got into Colonel Bill's ledger to the amount of $50 and finally balanced the account with a note.

When the paper was a long time overdue and there was no prospect of a settlement, to the eminent disgust of the colonel, he declared, with a strong Anglo-Saxon emphasis, that he would sell Blankerton's note for 50 cents on the dollar. The statement was not long reaching the ears of the maker of the note. He met the colonel in the village street one day and accosted him:

"Bill, heard you'd offered to sell my note for 50 cents on the dollar."

"Yes; I will."

"Will you sell it to me at that rate?"

"Yes, sir; I'll sell it to you at that rate."

"All right, Bill; make out a new note."

Colonel Bill's symptoms of apoplexy became noticeable from that moment. —Chicago Record-Herald.

DEAD HOPES.

Life can be lived in so many different ways that it is no wonder that we all have so many shades of happiness and misery. There are folks who make every moment rich and full, and others who drag away the time. And we are such plastic creatures that we are apt to live according to the manner of those about us.

This fact is emphasized when youth, in contact with an outside world, bubbling over with enthusiasm and ideas, comes back to old haunts. The community composed often of older people with pessimistic retrospect, return their attitude for his. The two thought currents meet, clash, and the enthusiasms invariably go down to defeat outweighed in the conflict. A month later, and the youth's world is no farther than the horizon, and he is looking on an old ambition as folly.

The need of encouraging environments and of the right sort of inspiration cannot be overestimated. Atmosphere can be so depressing that the most buoyant spirit will give up and accept the commonplace. A sneer and a doubt smother ego—and ego is the thing that has always stood for advancement and progress.

The human will is prone to such weakness that once dead, it is not easily resurrected. Our friend who comes back from an outside world is in danger of succumbing easily, no matter what his belief in himself may have been. He is very apt to stop half way in some flight of self-appreciation, with the words killed by a look of skepticism. Very, very soon, the confidence fades. The humble, shuffling dispirited being is all too common. The wings of his soul have some time been cropped with the keen edge of sarcasm and doubt.

Life can be cheap and worthless, and it can be pulsating with fullness. It is not good for youth to stay too much in the environs where there is retrospect. There is no end to what a man can do and what a man can overcome. There is no deeper tragedy than to have ambition nipped.

There is nothing more pathetic than dead hopes.

We note that that industrious and comfortable body, Madame Hen, has, as usual, beaten the wheat field and cotton field record, the value of the egg crop being greater than either of these crops. Hens continue the beneficent work of paying off farm mortgages—an achievement over which they cackle a good deal. The Kansas State Agricultural College has nine hens whose board cost, in eight months, $4.81. In that period these ladies produced eggs worth $26.56.

Attorney-General Wickersham's advocacy of a Federal incorporation law to protect corporations from State persecution will probably cause deep gloom among Texas prosecutors.

FIFTH GINNING REPORT.

More than two-thirds of the work of cotton ginning has in all probability been represented in the census report on operations to the middle of November. The number of bales reported as ginned at that date was 8,109,737 or nearly a million and a half bales less than last year at the same date. It shows that November was a month of comparatively light operations, and that unless the growers have stored much cotton for ginning later, it will be found that the output does not point to any larger crop than has all along been anticipated. It is far more probable, at season's prices, that a larger proportion than usual has been ginned. According to various modes of reckoning on the basis of average for earlier years, a crop of 11,500,000 bales is quite probable, says The Wall Street Journal.

The facts which ginning returns disclosed more clearly than heretofore are the good yields of the Atlantic Coast States, the weakness of the Gulf States outside of Texas, and the much better promise of Texas than was indicated at any time since the beginning of cotton picking season. Texas is fairly certain to gin at least 500,000 bales cotton during the remainder of the season, thus giving the State 2,600,000 bales. Improvement in that quarter, together with a yield as good as last year in the Carolinas and Georgia, are the promising features in the present outlook.

In spite of all this the speculative market took the opportunity to advance prices from 14 to 20 points on futures, especially January and May. Almost coincident with this came the news that some foreign mills are running on a five-day schedule and that the period for the agreed curtailment at home has been extended to March 1. With May cotton selling an eighth of a cent a pound above the fifteen-cent level, restriction in demand is still further encouraged as the only available means of withstanding the persistent advance in raw cotton.

The almost invariable failure of the Federal Government to secure the conviction of trusts charged with violation of the laws is not encouraging to those who are striving for better economic conditions. There is a decidedly unpleasant monotony in the decision of the courts, by which on one technicality and another combinations of capitalists are able to escape through the meshes of the law. It conclusively shows that our present anti-trust and other similar laws are altogether inadequate, and that new and effective legislation is imperatively needed.

For the first time in many years wild duck are plentiful in Pensacola bay, and parties who have been out on the bay have had fine luck. Usually during the winter season ducks are seen on the bay, but not in large numbers, and so wild that they cannot be killed. But it is said that this season is proving an exceptional one and ducks are plentiful.

Work on the sewerage system at Bartow will begin within the next thirty days, and this town will have an up-to-date system installed by early spring.

A happy man is he who works out a system by which he is sure to succeed in the field of speculation—and then tears it up.

Gladdening a Humorist.

The financial burden which Mark Twain carried some years ago weighed on his mind heavily. In those moments of despondency there was one tactful friend who could make the humorist forget his troubles. This was Dan Beard, the artist who illustrated some of Twain's books.

"Dan Beard, there is no tonic that can equal the company of a cheerful man," said the humorist as he entered the artist's studio.

"Ah, but I have such a pleasant subject to work upon that I am not in need of either man or tonic for my cheerfulness," retorted the artist.

"Beg pardon; it is I that need the tonic, and that is why I am here," said Twain forlornly.

"Then allow me to prescribe a dose of your own medicine." And Mark was handed a copy of his book which Beard had been studying.

"I thank you," replied the humorist. "It took me a year to get that medicine out of my system, and I do not propose to imbibe it again."

A discussion of the book was followed by a hearty dinner, and Twain left his friend, having received the cheer that he needed.

WALRYON THE MOVE

Usually Travel at a Walk While on a March.

USEFUL OF THEIR HORSES.

Why a Trot or a Gallop Might be Disastrous to the Animals. Wagons and Supplies—Going In Camp at Night.

It is so familiar with the marching troops frequently have the impression that mounted troops usually travel at a trot or gallop while on a march. Cavalry, however, the gait is a walk.

There are reasons why it is not necessary for cavalry to trot or gallop on marches. The trooper is required to carry his three weapons—rifle and saber—over a hundred rounds of ball ammunition, his blanket, canteen, extra horse and sundry other articles, all of which add considerable weight to that of the trooper.

Weight is more or less concentrated at comparatively few points instead of being uniformly distributed over the horse's back, so that at a trot, some of all that may be done to the horse, the concussion at certain points is considerable and if kept up will develop blisters and sores on the horse's back, which may increase the animal is no longer fit to use. The supply department furnishes a horse to each trooper, differing in this respect from the mounts of cavalry, who has as many as he needs. Constant vigilance is required on the part of the captain while on a march in order to keep his horses comfortable and prevent his troopers becoming dismounted.

It is accomplished in part by making a walk whenever the circumstances will admit it. By means of this we make four miles an hour. Captain William F. Flynn, U. S. Forest and Stream, and as twenty miles is considered a fair day's march it is thus made in about seven hours, considering the necessary halts, and carrying our supplies can be made faster than that, and there is no advantage in reaching one's destination very much in advance of the wagon.

Ordinary with individual tour-ists campers upon making camp their horses loose and either let them or else trust to luck in the morning of finding them again. We are permitted to do this in the morning. We always mean to provide for our animals on the march. When we are unable to buy hay and thus have to rely upon what we put each horse out on a picket pin driven in the ground.

On the march each mounted man has a lariet and pin attached to his saddle and as soon as he unsaddles he drives his pin in the ground. This thus gets a limited area for the horse to graze. The pins are driven once or twice during the evening and the horse stays all night on the grass. He gets a pretty fair chance to graze, after all, and when we start in the morning we can find the horses having been unsaddled and the men then put up their tents. A shelter tent is a little affair made in two pieces and is nicely two-sided.

FREE IF IT FAILS

Your Money Back if You Are Not Satisfied With the Medicine We Recommend.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartics. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

The discovery of the active principle of our remedy involved the labor of the world's greatest research chemists. As an active agent it possesses the valuable qualities of the best-known intestinal tonics as well as being particularly pleasant and prompt in its results.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons and old folks, as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs or glands. They do not purge, causes excessive looseness nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety, and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, if taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time. They come in two sizes of packages, 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents. Sold in Gainesville only at our store—The Rexall Store, J. W. McCollum & Co., corner East Main and Union streets.

Each soldier carries his hat and his pole with him on his blanket roll attached to his saddle, so as soon as he unsaddles he can select his "bunkie" and put up his tent. The officers' tents are wall tents, carried in the wagons and cannot be put up till the wagons come in.

As soon as that takes place details of men put up the officers' tents, get wood and water for the cooks, and the latter build their fire and at once set about getting supper. Soldiers like to have their food well cooked; but, better still, they appear to like it promptly cooked, and that camp cook is always popular who yells "Come and get it!" just a little sooner than it is expected.

On the march we eat but two meals a day. After breakfast the cooks give each man a liberal sandwich of bacon and bread. This the man incloses in his meat can and when he gets hungry eats it. This constitutes his mid-day meal.

Supper over, a guard is posted to look out for the safety of the camp, and the other men usually collect fuel, build a rousing fire, gather round it and amuse themselves by singing, telling yarns and cracking jokes upon each other till bedtime, which comes pretty early with men on the march. The officers fill in the time in about the same manner.

On the march one always has to rise early. There are so many things to be done in order to get the cavalcade fairly on the road that early rising is essential. The guard rouses the cooks long before daylight, and by the time the horses are fed and brushed off the cook announces breakfast. After breakfast the tents are taken down, wagons packed, the horses saddled, and the column is once more on the march.

HORRORS OF THE ARCTIC.

Terrible Experience of the Crew of the Ill Fated Jeannette.

When Ross in 1818 touched at Etah the Eskks thought they were being visited by ghosts. With her white sails appearing on the horizon, where the sky melts into an abyss of ocean, what else could the ship be but some great white winged ghost, and what those strange creatures on her decks but lost souls? They thought she, a great bird, had flown from the moon, where wood was abundant, and when they saw her close, her wooden belly and her masts, they whispered, "How much wood there is in the moon—how very much!" Wood is like gold to the Eskks.

One of the unhappy crew of the Jeannette writes: "I put some mercury to freeze and beat it out on the auril. Our frozen brandy looked like black topaz. We divided meat, oil and bread with a hatchet. Joshua forgot to put on his right glove; in a moment his hand was frozen. The poor devil wished to thaw his lifeless hand in warm water. It was immediately covered with pieces of ice. The doctor was forced to cut the unlucky mate's hand off, and he died next day. Toward the middle of January a caravan of Eskks came to ask us for some dried fish and brandy. We added a little tobacco to these presents, which they received with tears of joy. The chief, a feeble old man, told us that the week before he had eaten his wife and two sons."

Cold more terrible than the white wolf and bear seizes its victims unawares, instantaneously, fatally. The cold purifies the blood, sharpens appetite, favors digestion and stomach. It soothes to sleep by bringing death in the midst of beautiful dreams. This intense cold, so dry, so pure, stops putrefaction, sweetens the air by greatly increasing its density and purifies water. Cold takes the place of cooking, for it makes raw meat, raw fish and tallow eatable.

A Roman nosed people could not hold their own in the arctic. A Roman nose would be too often frozen off. The Esk flat nose is less exposed. The name Eskimo, or raw food eaters, is a nickname given by the Labrador Indians. Their true name in their own tongue is Inuit and means "man." If patriotism be a virtue the Eskks have it surpassingly. Never was a land of verdant groves, golden harvests and willows mirrored in the streamlets and silvery waves better beloved than their snow fields and ice hills and gloomy, stinking tents and igloos.—New York Press.

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN.

Bad Stomach Causes Unsightly Complexion—J. W. McCollum & Co. Have a Remedy.

Bad stomachs mean bad blood; bad blood means sallow, unattractive skin.

Why? The stomach in a healthy condition separates the nutritious matter from the food and gives it to the blood to supply the entire body with nourishment.

If the stomach is not in a healthy condition it does not separate from the food the nutritious matter and it passes off with the waste.

Thus the blood is impoverished and has not sufficient nourishment to supply the muscles, skin and body generally.

If you have belching of gas, distress after eating, nausea, biliousness, nervousness or foul breath, then your stomach is wrong and you want the best prescription for stomach troubles the world has ever known.

You want Mi-o-na tablets, the great stomach remedy which J. W. McCollum & Co. guarantee to cure indigestion, no matter of how long standing, or money back.

Relieves stomach distress at once. Mi-o-na is sold by leading druggists everywhere and in Gainesville by J. W. McCollum & Co. for 50 cents a large box. Test samples free from Booth's Mi-o-na, Buffalo, N. Y.

OCEAN WAVES.

Curious Facts About the Irregularities of the Tides.

To the ordinary landsman tides along the coast are most puzzling. He has been taught that the tides rise and fall twice in the twenty-four hours and that this depends in some mysterious way upon the moon. But when it occurs that in his travels he sees a spot along the shore where there is no tide at all he is at a loss to explain the phenomenon.

To be exact, there is only one ocean in the world where the tides follow the moon with absolute regularity. This is the great Antarctic basin, and the reason is that there and there only is to be found a sweep of water entirely uninterrupted by land. The enormous wave raised by the moon's attraction courses round the world south of Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope with absolutely nothing to break it. In the northern hemisphere great masses of land interrupt the tidal waves and, combined with the shallowness of inland seas, cause them to perform antics that seem most strange.

The depth of water has much to do with tidal irregularities. Out in the open ocean, when the tide is abyssmal—that is, about 5,000 fathoms—the speed of the waves is amazing. Where the depth decreases to five fathoms the tide travels at a comparatively slow rate. In England, for example, which is surrounded by narrow land broken seas, the result is that the Britons get some of the most terrible and dangerous tidal races and currents.

The most formidable is the whirlpool between the island of Jura and Scarpa, on the west coast of Scotland. This is known as the "Caldron of the Spotted Seas." Here is a race running at a speed to be matched only by a mountain torrent. The force of a heavy tidal current pushing up a wide mouthed river causes what is termed a "bore." The most striking example of this tidal feature is seen on the Amazon, a moving wall of water thirty feet high and reaching from bank to bank rushing inland from the ocean.—New York Tribune.

ILLUSTRATORS' WOES.

Errors That Were Pointed Out by Unfeeling Editors.

"Now, what do you think of that?" asked the youthful Illustrator ruefully as he tossed his comrade a letter. It was from an editor, and its mandate was stern. It said:

"Dear Sir—Permit me to call your attention to the importance of reading a story before attempting to illustrate it. I am aware that the modern artist does not observe this rule, but it is imperative in this office. If you will examine the text of the story sent you for illustration you will learn that the army officer mentioned is said to have taken his fishing reel out of his haversack, and you have made a picture showing this officer—who, by the way, is a brigadier general—with a knapsack strapped to his back. A knapsack, my dear sir, is not a haversack. Furthermore, no army officer ever carried a knapsack or ever will carry one. If the general should see your drawing he would be insulted. Will you please acquaint yourself thoroughly with the appearance of a haversack, correct your drawing and return it to this office at the earliest possible date?"

"Just think of having to know all such details!" exclaimed the artist wrathfully.

"That's nothing," his studio comrade responded consolingly. "I made an awful break once. I painted a picture to illustrate a story in which a widow got married, and I depicted the bride in a long white veil. Of course I thought the drawing was a beauty and a wonder, and I was ecstatic over the way I had handled that effect in white. Imagine how crushed I was to have the editor—by the way, she was a woman—smile witheringly and tell me that no widow ever wore a veil when being remarried. How was I to know that? I have never been a widow."—New York Press.

A King's Umbrella.

The king of the Belgians once left his umbrella in a hansom when driving to Brussels. This was returned to his majesty a few hours afterward by the proud caddy, who was offered for his honesty by King Leopold the sum of 100 francs. The astute Jehu, however, begged a great favor of the king. Could he have the umbrella instead of the money? The favor was granted, and before many days had passed the cabman had put up the umbrella for sale, and it was knocked down to some royal enthusiast for 1,100 francs. When King Leopold heard of this he exclaimed, "Well, I've heard of an umbrella being put up to keep off showers of rain, but this seems to have been put up to bring down showers of gold!"—London Globe.

A Paying Garden.

"No money in gardening? Why, I know a man who cleared $50,000 last summer from less than an acre." "Impossible! Utterly absurd!" "Not at all. You see, it was a roof garden."—Boston Transcript.

MASTER'S SALE.

PUZZLE OF THE AIR.

Currents Shown by the Action of Birds in Flight.

The average person regards air much as he regards water—as much lighter, but like it otherwise. Calm is precisely to him as calm water is to a fish. If there is a wind he pictures the air as a flowing river. And as long as all men looked at it so, the birds kept their motionless. For the only state in which the air approaches the condition of air is when it forms a maelstrom. Then water in its wildest turbulence is far short of the atmosphere. It is never still. It is filled with waves ascending, cold waves descending, and through it race cross winds and diagonal shoots, with corkers and whirlwinds wandering hither and yon as they list. The warm air creates one kind of a maelstrom; off plowed land it creates another. A layer of cold air may be blown down a layer of warmer air. What happens when the air breaks through its envelope? It bursts its dam. A down-draft is churned to and fro and round and up and down and gives a feeble idea of the air's maelstrom.

A bird, circling with fixed wings, floats on a rising column of air, maintains its altitude as to the ground, but it is constantly constringing the air's ascending volume. Once the bird loses the air column, it has to flap its wings, and it finds another column, when it is wheeling again with fixed wings. Moreover, when it flies the air comes toward it in waves, rising like the billows of the sea. It meets them, and then it does precisely what a boat does—goes over the waves. The bird has learned all this, and when it learned they were about, it was flying as you and I would be flying. Chinese philosophy when it learned the English alphabet, there were no teachers, and it was dead, that could help them take a few steps along the way. Everybody's Magazine.

FIGHT WITH HIS BOYS.

Passage Between Willich and Rosecrans.

There are times when the so-called "army" gives way under the stress of circumstances. At the battle of Chickamauga, General Sherman, who was commanding a brigade, was ordered to disengage. He did so, and the army was sent for and in the general commanding. He must consider himself under the present.

"General," said Rosecrans sternly, "you are under arrest and your sword here until your case is heard."

"General, I will consider myself arrested," was the reply, "and as soon as this fight's over I'll fight him up."

"General," said the astounded Rosecrans, "I want you to consider your arrest now."

"General," responded Willich, "and so soon as I get off this I'll be up and settle him."

"General," expostulated the commanding general, "I can't let you go to fight. You are under arrest. Send an officer to your brigade."

"General," said Willich indignantly, "He doesn't know him. Me and my boys, I teach them. I fight them and none of the boys would fight or what to do only go with them. My boys believe in me, General Willich, and the brigade, and I must lead the brigade."

"General," Rosecrans gave it up. General Sherman was requested to return to his boys, which he did immediately. And that was the end of the matter.—Youth's Companion.

They Don't Like Rain.

It shows a greater dislike of rain than any other animal. It takes the Galapagos tortoise the shelter. On a bright, clear day when not a cloud can be seen, the shellbacks on a tortoise sometimes be seen headed toward overhanging rocks.

It happens the people know will come down during the rain. It comes down in the sign never fails.

Colonial Holidays

THE open fireplace, the crackling logs, the roaring chestnuts, the jingle of sleighbells, the snow-mantled guests!

The festive board—the spotless linen—the quaint, old china, the family silver brought from its hiding place! The pride in that silver!

And now—your family silver? Is it the "Colonial" made in the historic old town of Newburyport, Massachusetts? If so, you have equal pride in yours.

This splendid pattern in Sterling Silver reflects all the courtly grace and dignity with which your great-grandfather led the cotillion or dispensed the hospitalities of the feast.

Are you prepared for your Holiday carving? We propose a bird set in the "Colonial" for your own use, or as an acceptable gift. Made in a complete table service.

GAINESVILLE,

—THE—

University City.

Gainesville is conceded to be the most enterprising as well as the most beautiful city in the interior of Florida. It is located in the very center of the State, half way between the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, surrounded by lands of such fertility as to be capable of producing a great variety of crops; in the heart of the truck-growing, phosphate and naval stores belt. She has the best educational advantages in the State, good churches, with edifices which are superior to any town of its size in Florida, with large and consistent congregations; has a climate which cannot be excelled for health and pleasure. All these natural advantages, combined with a progressive and enterprising cosmopolitan citizenship, are sure to make a big city.

There are many natural attractions in close proximity to the city, some of which are Alachua Sink, Paine's Prairie, the Devil's Mill Hopper, Warren's Cave, and Lake Newnan, all of which are reached by private conveyance.

Spring Park Stock Farm, the largest and finest live stock farm in the State, is only eight miles west of the city and is reached by a good hard road, affording a most pleasant drive.

The farmers of Alachua county, of which Gainesville is the county seat, live at home and board at the same place. The temperature is very uniform, scarcely ever reaching the nineties in summer or the twenties in winter. The population of Gainesville is about eight thousand, representing nearly every nationality on the face of the earth, and strangers always meet with a hearty welcome.

The University of Florida for young men and the National Agricultural Experiment Station are located within the corporate limits of the city. In fact, Gainesville has so many things that we must be pardoned if we omit a few of them in the following enumeration of what
